Adobe Building Update & The Olive Oil Industry The November Meeting

If you have been around the intersection of Moffett Blvd. And Central Expressway recently, you have probably noticed the work going on at the Adobe Building. The restoration is moving forward, and we will have Mark Rogge, P.E., Senior Civil Engineer for the City of Mountain View, and the Engineer overseeing the restoration of the Adobe Building will give us an update on progress.

Continuing a series on industries that have played a significant role in Mountain View history, Mario and Liz Ambra will give us an overdue of the Olive Oil Industry in Mountain View.

We also have some business to transact, the election of officers. If we stick with our traditions, the business part of the meeting will be very brief. As always, there will be time at the conclusion of the meeting for socializing, coffee and cookies. See you at the Senior Center, Sunday, 2:00 PM, November 5, 2000.

Barbecue & Raffle The August Meeting

The Seventh Annual Barbecue & Raffle for the Mountain View Historical Association took place Sunday, August 6, 2000. The weather cooperated to make for a very pleasant afternoon. Matt Pear served as an effective second cook to support Al Jehnings at the grill. Most of the City Council lent a hand in making the party a great success. As usual, Chuck Thompson was there handling the money and keeping Edna under control. The statistics for the party are presented elsewhere in this Newsletter, but suffice to say Attendance was up, Profit was up, and a great time was had by all.

Old Newspaper Items Compiled By Barbara Kinchen

125 Years Ago (1875: Winning honors at the Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Society Fair for best Durham Bull, best stallions and best carriage horses was S.B. Emerson, prominent rancher of Mountain View.

Juan Arrada was shot and killed in Old Mountain View by Nathaniel King, butcher and hotel proprietor. Arrada had become incensed after hearing he had been called a cattle thief by King's son and threatened to kill both father and son. Three days later Arrada was killed when he rode by the hotel. There were no witnesses to what was said just before the shooting. The father was arrested and admitted to the killing and the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. King asked for a trial to clear his name but the Grand Jury dismissed the case. In the meantime, the well-liked King was elected Justice of the Peace by a large majority vote.

A Christmas Eve Ball was held at the schoolhouse and raised over $200 toward buying a piano for the school.

100 Years Ago (1900): Wages in the prune industry were higher than ever before. White men received $1.50 a day, $1.00 if with board. Chinese and Japanese boarded themselves and got $1.15 – $1.25. Many families set up tents in the orchards and the entire family would work. Children were paid by the box.

Duke, the St. Bernard belonging to William Costello, made his Thanksgiving dinner on neighbor Merriman's prize Jersey cow. Because of this and previous "acts of violence toward livestock, poultry and humanity", the owner was charged with maintaining a public nuisance and found guilty and sentence to be given the following month. (Researchers could not find a follow-up story).

75 Years Ago (1925): "The number of horses in the United States exceeds the number of automobiles by about two million".

California Supply Company in Mountain View sent 50 thousand cases of fresh tomato pulp (28 freight cars) to Campbell Soup Company in New Jersey for its famous soup.

City Marshal Jarvis arrested four drivers for driving and parking in the way of fire apparatus at a fire in one of the cannery cottages on Villa Street.

Jarvis and Constable Fred Peterson raided a house on the Sladky ranch and found a huge distillery capable of producing 250 gallons of liquor a day. Several truckloads of equipment, mash and liquors were confiscated and Mrs. Vartouhy Papazian was arrested. Peterson had served a warrant near this place one evening and became suspicious of activities.

A special telephone has been installed on the outside of the Jurian building with a very loud bell. It was for calling the night watchman (policemen) or hor his use when the telephone exchange and all other phones were closed for the night.

50 Years Ago (1950): A five pound practice smoke bomb fell from a plane into the center of Jelvich Avenue (Now Dalma.) Creating a six inch deep hole and releasing smoke about 100 yards into the air. Witnesses stated that the plane circled and landed at Moffett but authorities at the field said that no plane carrying that kind of bomb was in the air at the time of the accident.

The heaviest rain storm in years caused Permanente Creek to overflow near where it crosses under Miramonte Road. Some 2.35 inches fell on Saturday November 18 and that night Brookfield tract, to the west of Miramonte, was flooded. Water also cut a channel down the east side of the road damaging orchards, inundating Sonia Way and Victor Way and caused thousands of dollars in damages to businesses at and near the intersection of Miramonte and El Camino Real. Off Springer Road, Sunshine Terrace Subdivision flooded from a tributary of Permanente Creek. Debris had not bee cleared from the culvert under Sunshine Drive and flooding occurred again two weeks later.

Police were the first city employees to take the non-Communist oath required by a recently passee state law.

Street Talk By Barbara Kinchen

The August Street Talk Puzzler was: To the west of town there was also a Calderon Road. This caused much confusion until 1948 when the Board of Supervisors approved a name change. What was the name selected?

In 1948 Calderon Road, on the West side of town, was renamed Ortega Avenue.

The February Street Talk Puzzler is: In the 1950 flood story Victor Way was mentioned. Up until shortly before the flooding Victor Way had carried a different name. What was the original, the one the residents thought was too difficult to pronounce?

Chester Awalt
By Carol Fischer

Awalt High School (present-day Mountain View High School), was named after a remarkable gentleman, Chester Awalt. Mr Awalt was outstanding for many reasons; he served as trustee on the high school board for almost four decades (with two brief interludes), he was station master at the Southern Pacific depot, he worked for the Bank of America, served as City Treasurer, was a charter member of the Mountain View Kiwanis, named Mountain View's Citizen of the Year in 1954, and was father of three and the grandfather of eight! By all accounts, he was a gentle, smiling man who supported local sporting events, loved children and was obviously devoted to his community.

Mr. Awalt was born in Hanford, California on January 5, 1883. His family moved to Santa Cruz where graduated from Santa Cruz High School. He received a scholarship to the University of California, where he received his B.S. from the College of Commerce in 1907. Mr. Awalt continued to be loyal to the Cal Bears his entire life.

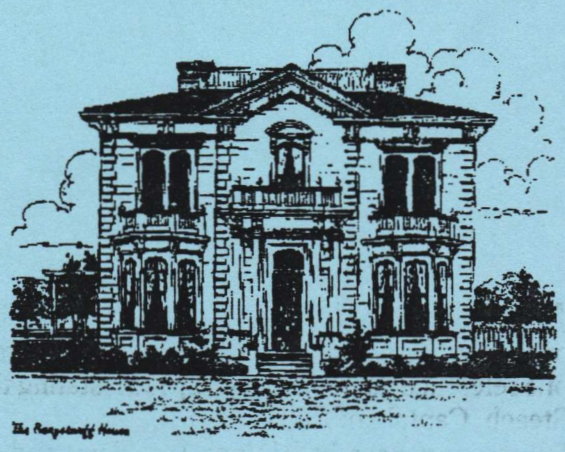

In 1912, Mr. Awalt was named Southern Pacific station agent for Mountain View. He and his family actually lived on the second floor of the depot for several years. Mr. Awalt is quoted as saying that his three children, Patricia, Doris and Robert, were the envy of their friends because they lived amidst all the excitement, hustle and bustle associated with a busy train station. One of Mr. Awalt's scariest memories occurred when he witnessed a shoot-out in 1915. Two men had robbed a San Jose tavern of $38.50, commandeered a San Francisco-bound train where they held the passengers and engineers captive. The engineer was able to brake in Mountain View where the robbers were met by waiting police who opened fire. One of the thugs was killed and the other wounded.

It was while he was station agent that Chester Awalt decided to run for the school board. By some fluke, he was elected to both boards – the elementary and high school boards. He served on the elementary board for five years but remained as a high school trustee for nearly 40 years. One of his happiest moments was handing out diplomas to his three children and to two of his grandchildren. Another proud occasion happened when the school board named the new high school in his honor in 1961. Chester Awalt was present at the groundbreaking ceremonies of all three high schools, Mountain View High (on Castro Street), Los Altos High and Awalt High.

After leaving their quarters above the depot, Chester and Estella moved to their home at 630 Bailey Avenue (now Shoreline Blvd.) Where they were often visited by former students. The couple continued to be interested in local schools long after Mr. Awalt's retirement. They also enjoyed attending Stanford football games – although Chester always wore his blue Cal necktie!

Mrs. Awalt died in 1972 and Chester in 1975. Several generations of fortunate Mountain View students have been touched by Chester Awalt's years of service and dedication.

Recently, the Mountain View History Center has been given some Awalt High School yearbooks. The Center has a complete set of Mountain View High School yearbooks and would to have such a collection for Awalt High. If any readers are thinking of tossing their copies, please donate them to the Mountain View History Center instead of the Goodwill!
