THE PREHISTORY, HISTORY, HERITAGE & GENEALOGY OF THE MUWEKMA OHLONE TRIBE OF THE SAN FRANCISCO BAY AREA

Our Fall 2022 Event

The MVHA invites our members and the public to join us on November 6 for our Fall event as we honor Native American Heritage Month and explore the history and heritage of our local indigenous community. We are excited to welcome Alan Leventhal as our special guest speaker; Mr. Leventhal works with the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe of the San Francisco Bay Area as tribal ethno-historian and senior staff archaeologist. He will share what is sure to be a fascinating and informative slideshow talk titled "Back from Extinction: The Prehistory, History, Heritage, & Genealogy of the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe of the San Francisco Bay Area." This event will be hosted for free on Zoom and include a live Q&A. For more information on the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe, see page 6 of this newsletter.

Prior to Mr. Leventhal's lecture, the MVHA will convene our official annual meeting, where we will hold our biennial election of the elected positions on our Board of Directors. For more information on our election procedures, please see page 7. We highly encourage all members to log on to Zoom at 1:00 p.m. for this short (~10 minute) but important portion of the meeting.

ALAN LEVENTHAL

Our Guest Speaker

For the past 42 years, Alan Leventhal has worked with the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe of the San Francisco Bay Area as a tribal ethno-historian and senior staff archaeologist. From 1978 to 1987, Mr. Leventhal worked at San Jose State University (SJSU) as the Department of Anthropology Lab Director. From 1987 until his retirement from SJSU in 2019, he worked on the administrative staff in the College of Social Sciences while also teaching as a lecturer on contemporary Native American issues and advanced methods and theory in archaeology. Mr. Leventhal also volunteered on the Congressionally-created Advisory Council on California Indian Policy's Unrecognized Tribal Task Force and with the National Congress of American Indians Recognition Task Force. He has also worked closely with several Bay Area museums including exhibitions at the Oakland Museum, Los Alto Historical Museum, New Museum of Los Gatos, Campbell Historical Museum, and de Saisset Museum at Santa Clara University.

President's Message

By Pamela Baird
MVHA President

Pamela Baird

On a hot day this past June my husband and I did something we've never done before—we attended the appraisal and taping event of PBS's popular Antiques Roadshow at Filoli in Woodside.

Over the summer the Antiques Roadshow held five events across the country. A friend gave us the tickets—her email was a welcome surprise. I was unaware that Filoli had been selected as a location, so the email was a double surprise. My husband and I discussed what we should bring. He decided on a beautiful gold watch and chain that belonged to his paternal grandmother. I selected a signed Loetz glass vase that my paternal grandparents received as a gift in the 1930s.

We were instructed to arrive 30 minutes prior to the allotted entrance time (which were scheduled from 7:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.). Our entrance time was 12:30 p.m. To our amazement, as we approached Filoli on Canada Road we saw a huge back up of cars trying to get into the property. We worried that we wouldn't make the allotted time, but quickly realized that everyone in front of us, and probably many behind, us were also trying to make the 12:30 entrance time. The long line (it took us almost an hour waiting in the car) is an indicator of the popularity of the program.

Once we got in and parked the registration was easy. A proof of COVID vaccination and ID was need for entering the grounds. A wrist band validated our qualifications. We were given a brochure with a map of Filoli and the 23 appraisal locations. We waited only about five minutes (in 90 degree heat!) to begin the process. With the wave of a volunteer's hand off we went on our adventure.

The first stop was the "Triage" tent. In there, volunteers viewed people's treasures to determine the proper category. Once determined, we walked to the appraisal tents, which were scattered over the property behind the house. We walked by a filming tent and watched as an owner and appraiser discussed three baseball bats mounted to a framed panel.

The area swarmed with visitors, volunteers, film crews and appraisers, some of which I recognized from watching the PBS program. We stopped first at the watch tent. My husband showed the appraiser a photograph of his grandmother from about 1910 wearing the watch. He wasn't impressed and told us that the real value was in the gold chain. It was a disappointing evaluation.

We next went to the glass tent. There we received a more careful assessment from the appraiser. She valued the Loetz vase at about 40% higher than I anticipated.

Afterwards we walked around, looking at the various tents and the treasures people brought with them. We watched several more filming sessions, only one of which could we get close enough to hear what was discussed. We wondered if any of the items people were holding would be considered a "hidden treasure".

Even though we didn't get selected for a taping session, we had a great afternoon of people watching and being behind the scenes of a very popular program. I can't wait to watch the upcoming season starting in January 2023. Will anything that we saw be included in the Filoli episode? What item would you have brought?

—Pamela

San Antonio Rd. Painting Donated

By Pamela Baird
MVHA President

Several weeks ago the MVHA received an offer of a large painting from Charlie Holman. While we often receive offers of historic items, this item especially caught our attention.

It's large format (40" x 46") depicts a scene showing the former Sears department store on San Antonio Road during the late 1980s, with our city's iconic view of the Santa Cruz Mountains in the distance. Mr. Holman initially purchased the painting for his office in Palo Alto and later moved it to the home he shares with his wife in Paradise, California. His desire to donate the painting is because, "We enjoyed it for many years and it's time for others to do the same and we don't have room."

Unfortunately, the artist is unknown, as the signature on the painting is only the initials (AHS) of the artist. No other markings are on the back of the painting. If anyone knows who the artist might be, please reach out to us!

Fond memories of the store prompted Mr. Holman to write, "I remember going to Sears all the time as a kid. I could never pass up the popcorn and candy kiosk in the middle of the store." The Sears store had an iconic California look when constructed. Twin bent palm trees graced the front of the building. A large cursive Sears logo was illuminated from behind by neon lighting. In 2011 the Sears store, as well as the surrounding shopping center, was torn down. In its place, the mixed-use Village at San Antonio Center was built over the next six years.

MVHA Board members remarked about the Sears store as well. The wide sparkly sidewalk framing the store was remembered by many. Nick Perry remarked "My mom's (Gloria Perry) first job was working the candy counter and popping the popcorn at Sears." We hope to find a good place to display the painting in the History Center so it can spark fond memories or curious questions about this rapidly-changing corner of Mountain View.

Finding Your Family History

By Robert Cox
MVHA Vice President

Can I research my family history for free or do I need to subscribe to online services or even hire a professional genealogist?

When it comes to researching your family history in the USA, there is a lot you can do today online for free. The Mormon church's website www.familysearch.org is a great free source of census, birth, death, and military enlistment records. Most people who have American ancestors can trace their family tree back to at least 1850-1870 using this site. The other two great free sources to check out are www.findagrave.com (for cemetery records) and www.wikitree.com (for submitted family records). You should check out these free resources before spending any money.

If you are willing to spend some money, a subscription to Ancestry is probably the best place to start. Watch for sales around the holidays if you are cost-conscious. A subscription to USA records is also less expensive than an access to worldwide records. Ancestry's worldwide records are primarily from the British Isles and Canada. They include some USA records, like the Social Security Claims Index and recent birth records from some states, that are not available on Family Search. They also include photos from high school yearbooks and public family trees submitted by members. Ancestry also lets you contact other subscribers through their private e-mail service. I have met many of my distant cousins this way, with whom I have shared interesting family stories.

Another paid service worth exploring is www.newspapers.com, which provides searchable online access to newspapers. Note that there are two level subscriptions provided. The more expensive one provides access to a much larger collection of newspapers. Small town newspapers often provide an insight into our ancestors' day-to-day life. For example, I found notes in a local Ohio newspaper about when my great-grandfather Perry Cox lost his hat at a Methodist revival and when his son headed out to California to seek his fortune.

Hiring a professional genealogist can be useful, but expensive. Understand that you will pay by the hour, not by what results are obtained.

In my next column, I will talk about military records and why they are so useful.

Let's Get Together!

A GREAT RETURN TO THE ADOBE BUILDING

After an absence of almost three years, the MVHA was able to return to the Adobe Building on August 7 for our annual summer event and ice cream social. It was great to gather in person again in the Adobe's historic hall. A historic slideshow of past MVHA events at the Adobe Building dating back to the 1960s played on the hall's large screen as members and guests entered the building and socialized.

Presentations by some of the city's oldest civic organizations were the focus of the event. The groups made their presentations by the year in which they were established in Mountain View. The common theme for all of the organizations mirrors that of civilization—how to be a better person and aid the local community.

Established in 1868, the Masonic Order is located in a beautiful building on Church Street. Their presenter was unable to join us because of illness but Nick Perry stepped in last minute to give a brief slideshow presentation on the history of their building.

The next group was the Odd Fellows, which was established in 1876. Jackie Brown gave a detailed history of the organization. Sanjay Dave described the activities of Rotary International, which formed its Mountain View chapter in 1924 in Mountain View. The group sponsors local and international projects. Established in 1926, the local community activities of Kiwanis were detailed by Mark Lindberg. Lastly, Jerry Steech of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, described their efforts in helping the local community.

After the presentations, Baskin-Robbins ice cream, graciously donated by John McAlister (the owner of the store on El Camino), was enjoyed by over forty attendees. Although we were prepared to pay for the ice cream, John refused payment—thanks John! Not only that, John provided almost ten different flavors, which gave everyone a chance to enjoy their favorite flavor.

We look forward to gathering at the Adobe Building again in 2023 and hope to see you there!

THEN

The MVHA's logo (featuring a stylized depiction of MV's Southern Pacific train depot with the Santa Cruz Mountains in the background) was reworked into a circle-shaped seal for the City of Mountain View sign on Shoreline Boulevard.

MVHA Added to City Sign

When researching the topic for the Summer Ice Social event August 7, our board looked at the MV organizations display rack located on Shoreline Boulevard where it meets Stierlin Road. When we started looking closely at the groups listed, we discovered a "time capsule" sorely in need of an update!

This mid-20th Century sign once marked the northern gateway; it was installed long before the city's developed area expanded north toward the bay. Like similar signs in many towns throughout the country, it features the logos and seals of organizations that operated with the city at the time. Since then, many of the organizations have ceased local operations or disbanded all together In addition, the condition of the rack was looking a bit ragged.

An email was sent to the City of Mountain View to inquire about the status of the panels and rack. A reply quickly arrived—the City was already in the process of updating the sign, making a new rack, and (re) installing organization logo panels. We inquired if the MVHA could have a panel installed and were delighted to learn that the city would secure a place for us if we provided the 30-inch panel. Nick Perry reworked the rectangular MVHA logo into a round form.

The artwork was transferred to a thin metal sheet by a local sign making company. The City mounted the panel on the new rack, which is smaller than the previous one. More organizations will have their logos mounted later. The MVHA is also working with the City to preserve the logo sign of one defunct organization, the "Sociedad Progresista Mexican Logia No. 49", a defunct lodge of a Mexican-American mutual aide society and add it to our archival collection due to its unique association with Chicano history in Mountain View.

MVHA is proud to be included as an important local organization on the City's sign!

MVHA Meets the Community

One great feature of community life in Mountain View is the annual neighborhood association summer ice cream socials. Grants from the city provide funding for the purchase of ice cream, which is given away at the events.

In an effort to increase awareness of the MVHA and gain new members, our group attended events for the following neighborhoods: Gemello, Cuesta Park, Monta Loma, Old Mountain View, Varsity Park, Rex Manor, Shoreline West, Wagon Wheel, and an event at Rengstorff Park hosted by the Community Action Team.

At the events, board members have been able to talk to neighbors, many of whom are not familiar with our organization. We also learn local history from the neighbors who are eager to talk about their memories.

The sale of books about Mountain View history also increased activity around our table. At several events we offered coloring pages & crayons for children, which were a big hit. We look forward to participating in more neighborhood events in the future and are always looking for volunteers to help staff our information table. Please reach out if you're interested!

MV's Housing History
REVELATIONS & REFLECTIONS

By IdaRose Sylvester
Membership Committee Chair

The MVHA, in partnership with the Mountain View Human Relations Commission and Stanford University, were honored to host Understanding the History of Housing in Mountain View: Stories of Racism, Anti-Discrimination, and Movement Towards Inclusion, on July 26 to a sold out crowd. Over 110 community members participated in the multimedia event and discussion, and MVHA members facilitated most of the discussion.

We are honored to take part in this, because recent history has a real impact on our current environment and our policies. It is very easy to forget specifics like zoning changes made 50 years ago, or how activists pushed forward policies in the 1980s that made our community more welcoming to this day. Leaning on oral histories and secondary research focused on the 1920s through today, we demonstrated how fairly recent history impacts all of us. Today is tomorrow's history, and it was powerful to remind everyone of that—and their role in that history.

The event covered a wide range of topics, from racial inclusion throughout Mountain View's history, to demographic changes, to policies, and controversies, that made Mountain View both more and less inclusive throughout time. Mountain View has a long history of racial and ethnic inclusion, yet racial covenants prohibiting people of color can still be found in deeds, and land use policy over the years has often harmed people of color disproportionately. One of the most powerful parts of the event, however, were the stories told by people, spanning over 60 years, up until the present day, sharing stories of discrimination, exclusion, and sometimes, of inclusion. This powerful, personal history brought additional gravitas to the presentation.

For those who question why we study and record stories about diversity, this quote from one of the people interviewed for the project stands out:

"We need to have a Mountain View population that's diverse, not only diverse from a race perspective, but diverse occupationally, that can support a community, have self sufficiency, a community that doesn't have to import thousands of people or export them daily. That would be a community that has a sense of unity, and identity, and care, and courage."

The fact that studying history helped people feel a sense of unity and identity at this event is success to us.

For a copy and a recording of the presentation, an easy to read copy of the "history walk" timeline that spanned the room, oral history quotes, and more (with more added soon, such as the oral history transcripts), please visit:

Special Feature

Back from "Extinction"

The Prehistory, History, Heritage, and Genealogy of the Muwekma Ohlone Tribes of the San Francisco Bay Area

Editor's Note: This article and associated images are provided courtesy of our upcoming guest speaker, Alan Leventhal, on behalf of the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe of the San Francisco Bay Area.

The present-day Muwekma Ohlone Tribe is comprised of all of the known surviving American Indian lineages aboriginal to the San Francisco Bay region who trace their ancestry through the Missions San Francisco, Santa Clara, and San Jose; and who were also members of the historic Federally Recognized Verona Band of Alameda County.

The aboriginal homeland of the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe includes the following counties: San Francisco, San Mateo, most of Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, and portions of Napa, Santa Cruz, Solano and San Joaquin. This large contiguous geographical area, which historically crosscuts several major linguistic and tribal boundaries, fell under the sphere of influence of the aforementioned three missions between 1776 and 1836. The missionization policies deployed by the Catholic Church and militarily supported by the Hispanic Empire, brought many distantly related, and in some cases, already inter-married tribal groups together at the missions. Prior to, and after the American Conquest the surviving Bay Area Ohlone found safe havens on their rancherias established on old Californio land grants in the East Bay near San Leandro, Pleasanton, Sunol, Niles, and Livermore.

Comprehensive genealogical analysis of the Mission Baptism, Death, and Marriage Records from the three Bay Area Missions traces the surviving Muwekma lineages of the late 19th century through today back to their aboriginal villages. The present-day tribally enrolled Muwekma lineages are represented by the: Armija/Thompson, Santos-Pinos/Juarez/Colos/Armija, Guzman/Nonessa, and Marine-Guzman-Peralta, Marine-Alvarez/Galvan, Marine-Sanchez, Marine-Munoz, Munoz-Guzman, Marine-Arellano, and Marine-Elston/Thompson/Ruano descended families.The Tribe became federally recognized as the Verona Band of Alameda County shortly after the discovery in 1905 of the 18 unratified California Indian Treaties of 1851-1852. As a landless tribe the Muwekma became eligible for the purchase of homesites under the Congressional Acts.

While waiting for land purchase for their home sites in the greater Pleasanton/Niles area Muwekma Ohlone men enlisted prior to, and served overseas during WWI before they became citizens of the United States. Almost all of the men served in the Pacific and European theaters during WWII, and tribal members continued to serve during the Korean War, Vietnam, Desert Storm, in Iraq and are still serving today.

In the meantime, Alfred L. Kroeber, one of the founding anthropologists from the University of California in Berkeley, who interviewed the Elders of the tribe during the early 20th century for the Indian languages spoken at the Alisal (Pleasanton) and El Molino (Niles) Rancherias, would later publish his monumental tome titled Handbook of the California Indians published in 1925 through the Smithsonian's Bureau of American Ethnology wrote that:

> The Costanoan group is extinct so far as all practical purposes are concerned. A few scattered individuals survive, whose ancestors were once attached to the missions San Jose, San Juan Bautista, and San Carlos, but they are of mixed-tribal ancestry and live lost among other Indians or obscure Mexicans.

Even though the Muwekma were federally recognized as the Verona Band of Alameda County, and later enrolled with the Bureau of Indian Affairs under the 1928 California Indian Jurisdictional Act 1928-32, 1948-55, and 1968-71, and attended Indian Boarding schools in the 1930s and 40s, Kroeber's declaration of extinction, as a legacy, would adversely impact the tribe's legal standing up to present day. The presentation on November 6 covers the History and Heritage of the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe and their struggle to regain their federally recognized status with the United States Government.

Board Elections 2022

By Nicholas Perry
MVHA Past President & Nomination Committee Chair

It's probably fair to say that for most of us, 2020 feels like both a lifetime ago and just yesterday. But somehow, two years have gone by and it is time once again for biennial MVHA Board of Directors election. As we did in 2020, we're devoting a page of this newsletter to familiarize our members with our organization's bylaws and election procedures. According to our bylaws, the duties of the MVHA's Officers are as follows:

The President shall preside at all meetings of the Association, the Board of Directors, and the Executive Committee. He/she shall appoint Standing and Special committees' chairs subject to the ratification of the Board of Directors. The president shall be an ex-officio member of all committees, except the Nominating Committee.

The Vice-President shall perform the duties of the President in his/her absence. In case of the death or resignation of the President, the Vice-President shall become President for the remainder of the term.

The Secretary shall keep a correct and permanent record of the proceedings of all meetings of the Association and the Board of Directors; shall keep copies of current Articles and Bylaws; shall keep a list of the names and address of all members; shall, in case of the death or resignation of both the President and Vice-President, become the President until a President and Vice-President can be elected.

The Treasurer shall receive all monies of the Association; keep an itemized account, in a permanent file, of all receipts and disbursements; present a written income and expense report at meetings of the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors, and for the quarterly newsletter; turn over to his/her successor, within ten days of vacating office, all books, records, papers, and equipment including all data that is recorded on any electronic/digital medium accompanied by a hard copy of the same.

For election procedures, our bylaws state the following:

> ARTICLE IX – NOMINATIONS AND ELECTIONS
> Section 1. Officers shall be elected biennially in November. They shall assume their duties immediately following the adjournment of the Annual Meeting at which they are elected. Election shall be by majority vote.*
> Section 2. At the August meeting in an election year, the President shall recommend a nominating committee for members' approval, which shall present to the annual meeting the nominees for each office. Nominations may also be made from the floor at the annual meeting.

We need at least 30 members to constitute a quorum, so please be sure to join us at our Zoom meeting on November 6. Elections will take place at the start of the meeting through a live poll.*

The elected officers, along with the most recent Past President, comprise the MVHA's Executive Committee. At the December board meeting, the Executive Committee appoints our organization's four standing committee chairs to the Board of Directors: the Historical Data Committee, Membership Committee, Newsletter Committee, and Ways & Means Committee. After the Executive Committee ratifies the special committee chairs, the Board then appoints two Directors-at-Large to the Board.

The MVHA encourages and welcomes interested members to get involved in our Board. If you are interested in any of our Board positions please contact by the end of October via email at:

nick@mountainviewhistorical.org.

Note that we are especially looking for a new person to serve the role of Treasurer so our current Treasurer, Emily Ramos can take on other roles after serving in that position for many years.

Hope to see you (virtually) on November 6!

Membership Report

By IdaRose Sylvester
Membership Committee Chair

Members, we appreciate all of you!

Thank you to all who joined or renewed since our last membership update. Your membership dues go to keeping this organization alive, and thriving. We have ever increasing costs, for things such as event space and supplies, printing our marketing materials, Zoom fees, insurance, updating and maintaining our website to be more useful for you and future generations, and printing and mailing costs for this newsletter. We are also working on ways to digitally preserve and make our collections more accessible. We are funded exclusively by membership dues and donations, and are 100% volunteer run. Every new membership or renewal notice is met with gratitude and cheers from the team!

As a reminder, if you are on our email list, that does not mean you are official members of our organization. Only paid members will continue to receive a printed newsletter, and get free or discounted event admission, along with the satisfaction of helping us preserve Mountain View history! We are continually updating our membership system to bring ourselves up to 2022 standards, so if you are unsure of your membership status, please reach out to me, IdaRose Sylvester, at idarose@siliconvalleylink.com. I love hearing from our members, and all the great stories you send!

In fact, while getting your memberships is wonderful, I am particularly blessed by the amazing cards and letters I get. I have read powerful stories of life before and during internment of our Japanese American members during World War II, stories from people who remember orchards and a more quiet way of life, stories of parents who bought their children lifetime memberships in the 1970s, notes from children about how their parents have passed, but loved our newsletter and keeping in touch. We love hearing these stories, and cherish each one!

You can use the form below to mail in your renewal or sign up with a check, or you can sign up and pay online at https://mountainviewhistorical.org/memberships. Reminder, we are now operating on a calendar year. All membership renewal payments were due in January, and from here on out, everyone will be on a January-December schedule. We will send out a more formal reminder via email in December for your 2023 dues, so watch for this.

Welcome to new members: Carol Lewis, Marilyn Winkleby, Cynthia Topole, and Eric and Marilyn Wong.

Looking Back: Images from the Archives

In 1839, Lupe Yñigo, an Ohlone Indian, obtained his liberty from Mission Santa Clara and returned to the place of his birth, known as Posolmi, on the present-day site of Moffett Field. Five years later, Yñigo was formally granted the Rancho Posolmi by the Mexican government, making him one of the few local Native Americans to be granted a rancho. The Thompson & West Atlas of Santa Clara County from 1876 (above) shows the extents of the rancho, labeled as the "Ynigo Reservation," and the names of families who later occupied the subdivided rancho lands. Yñigo lived on his rancho until his death in 1864, at the age of 83. The Bayshore/NASA VTA light rail station features artwork by Ohlone artist Linda Yamane that incorporates a portrait of Yñigo and commemorates the local Ohlone peoples' continuous connection to this land. We invite you to join us on November 6 to learn more about the history of and heritage of local indigenous communities! For more information, look to page 1 of this newsletter!
